

Monroe I. Levine, MD

MONROE I. LEVINE, MD

Board Certified Orthopaedic Surgeon

Dr. Levine retired as the Chief of Orthopaedic Surgery from the Medical College of Georgia in April, 2002, and serves as Professor Emeritus. He is a Board Certified Orthopaedic Surgeon specializing in degenerative spine disorders, spinal deformities, trauma, tumors and infections of the spine, and is a member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons.

Dr. Levine came to the Center for Spinal Disorders with the goal of providing high quality medical care and enhancing patient outcome to achieve active lifestyles. He is involved in research and education for the advancement of spinal treatments. He enjoys bike riding, traveling, and spending time with his family.

Undergraduate Education

B.A., Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, VA, 1957

Medical Education

Doctor of Medicine, New York University College of Medicine, New York City, NY, 1961

Internship

Baltimore City Hospital, Baltimore, MD, July 1961-June 1962

now named Johns Hopkins Bay View Medical Center

Residencies

United States Army Hospital, Fort Hood, TX, September 1964-August 1965

General Surgery (Pre-specialty)

Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D.C., September 1965-August 1968

Orthopaedic Surgery

Fellowship

Walter Reed Army Medical Center

Washington, D.C.

January-December 1972

Hand Surgery